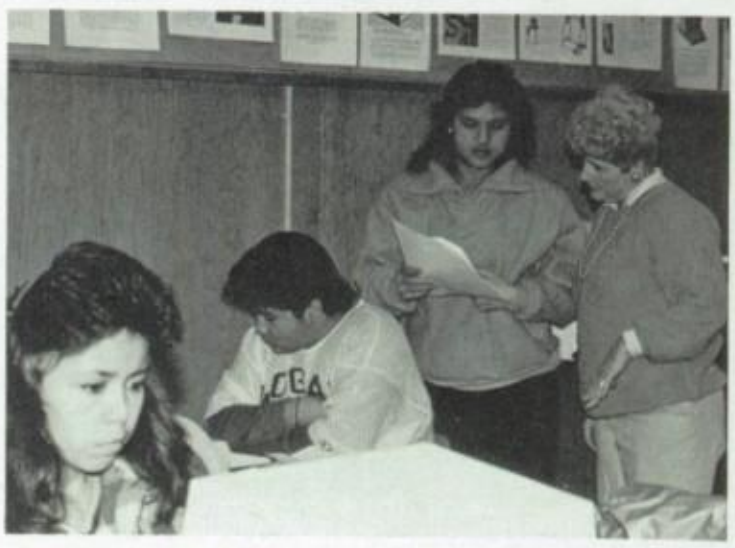
Reflections 1987...

Our Dedication for 1987

We dedicate the '87 yearbook to all the teachers at ERV. The teachers at ERV are not only our teachers, but they are our friends too. The teachers here will talk to students about anything, and the teachers will help the students with their problems. The teachers are the ONES who put the most time and effort into our school. We, the students, appreciate them for it.



Those Who Encourage Our Past

Witness Our Future

Teachers Are Reflections Of Success

El Rancho Verde

When I thought of a continuation high school, negative images always entered my mind. As a first year teacher many of my colleagues would probably say those pictures in my mind have now come to reality. I am pleased to say that my experience at El Rancho Verde so far has been one of enlightenment. I see students doing better in classes than ever before. I see students setting goals for life after high school. I see students making lifestyle changes that they will be thankful they made ten years from now. Most of all, however, I see a beacon of opportunity for all the students just waiting to be taken.

One last remark concerns both the teachers and administration, and anyone else concerned about our school. No student will ever come across a faculity as strong, as caring, and as selfless as the ERV faculty. On the other hand, as a teacher, I know I'll never meet students like the ones at El Rancho. Students who have made me grow as a person, and as a teacher. To me, El Rancho Verde means opportunity!

REFLECTIONS

Reflecting on my seven years at El Rancho, I remember faces, comments, and the accomplishments of the many students who have come and gone. This year though, has been a very special one, since it has allowed me to actively work with the student government. Yes, it has had its share of frustrating and anxious moments, but in the end, I realize that those students who have been involved have gained new skills and have developed self-confidence and pride. This alone keeps me going and makes working with ASB worth it. Good luck to all of the graduating seniors and to those of you returning next year. Let's continue to build school spirit at ERV because we all know that it is a great place to be.

ASB President's Speech

As your ASB president, I feel that we've had a very successful and rewarding year. Many students became really involved in school activities. We increased our enthusiasm thru Spirit Week and other activities. El Rancho Verde students owe a special thanks to Mrs. Uyemoto for showing ASB what ERV School Spirit is about and for doing an equal amount of work as the students. I hope ERV's pride continues to grow.

Good Luck Next Year!

A Dancer's Reflection

Dance is an expression:
An outlet for feelings,
A release of energy
An exercise in control.

Dance is a discipline:
Hours of practice,
Sweat comes falling,
Sacrifices worthwhile.

Dance is an expression:
Individuals become a group,
Ensembles move in unison,
Audiences impressed by it all.

Dance is a reflection:
A time shared by few,
Treasured memories for the brave,
Tenacity full of rewards.

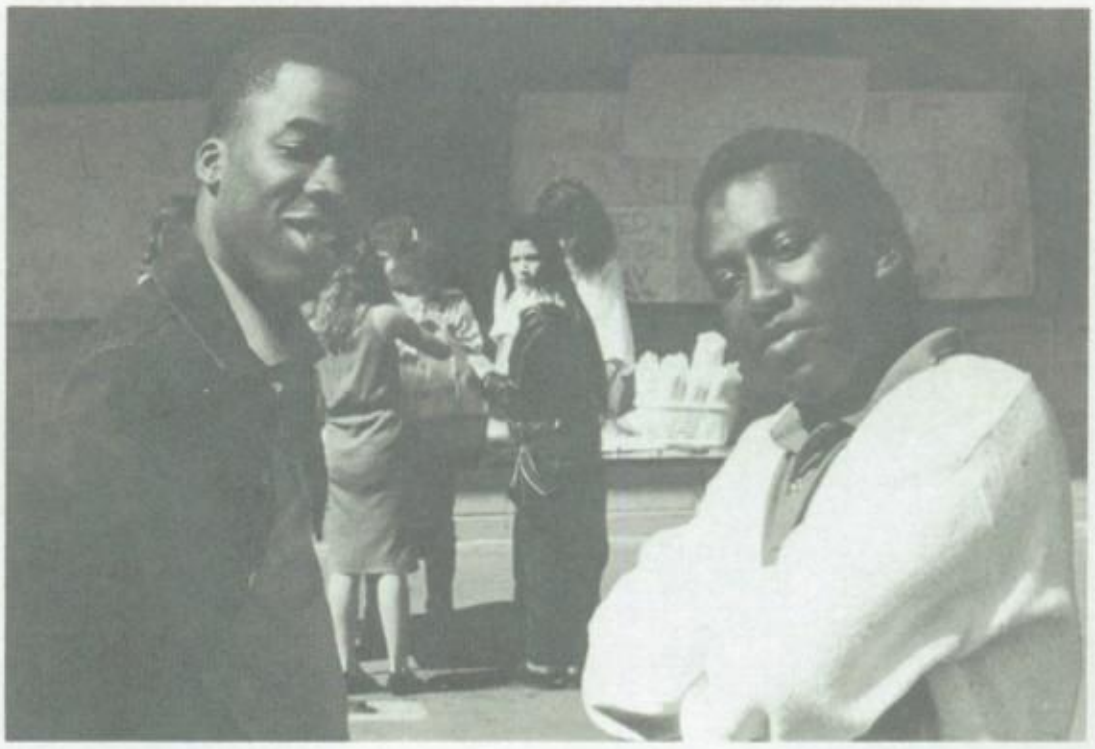
SENIORS GET INVOLVED



Senior Wills and Advice

I, Kezia Flores, leave to my teachers a lot of thanks and gratitude. Also, I leave my Bible and prayers for the students and the staff that will return next year, and most of all, I leave my kindness and love to each and everyone of you.

The advice, that I wish to leave with everbody, is to be patient. Your time will come real fast. You only have this chance. So don't blow it. Use your time wisely. And most of all: "Delight thyself also in the Lord, and he shall give thee the desires of thine heart." (Psalms 37:4) AMEN.

* * ***** * *

I, Faye Salcedo, leave my great leather art work to Ms. Collins, my printing to Mr. Lindsey, all my gossip in the world to Ms. Bridges, and my patients and ASB folder to Ms. Uyemoto.

My advice to all the student body is to stick to your goals. Strive for the best. Study hard. Education is important to all in the future, especially in getting jobs.

* * ***** * *

I, Trina Lucky, leave to all the teachers at ERV all my books and papers. To my sisters I leave my clothes which they wear anyway. To my son Sal, I leave all my love. To my mom I leave my thanks for giving me the space I needed. To Kim and Brian I leave my son Sal's puppy. I leave my son Sal to everyone so there won't be any arguments.

My advice to the undergraduates is to stay in school and try to do your best. Leave the party'n for the weekends.

* * ***** * *

I, Kim Holman, leave to all my teachers and my parents all my respect, gratefulness, and love for all their help. If it wasn't for all these people, I would never graduate. To the underclassmen, I leave all the fun I had at The Ranch. To my sister, Brandi, I leaver her a car so she will make it on time to first period. To Trina Lucky, I leave any children I have.

Next year, seniors get your act together and graduate. Take pride in yourself and the work you do. Soon you will see what it feels like to graduate.

* * ***** * *

I, Marty Marquez. leave to the pwigs all the good times.

My advice is to HANG IN THERE. The weekend is near.

* * ***** * *

I, Pee Wee Fernando, leave to Mrs. Bridges a library of diet books, so she can find a diet that will work.

Study real hard so you can graduate next year.

* * ***** * *

I, Michelle Conlon, leave to Mr. Mattingly the nerds that will be coming to school.

My advice is that students should be like graduating seniors. Try very hard and graduate. You need to work very hard and do what you have to so that you can graduate.

* * ***** * *

I, David McKnight, Leave to Ricky Rinetti my lunch money "bank" Valerie. I leave Chuck Garrigues my stress vitamins so he'll stop yelling at everyone.

My advice to Chuck is don't be treasurer next year. You'll get an ulcer. My advice to Ricky is speak up and stop mumbling. Steve and Brian stop using the broken down car excuse. Go to school. Everyone else don't flunk. Graduate!

I, Kip Davis, leave to Michelle Sisneroz all my money in the bank and my truck.

Advice: First come to school EVERYDAY. Do all your work and never cut. If you cut, you'll mess up. Change your attitude about school or you won't get anywhere in life.

* * ***** * *

I, John Ordanez, leave my buddy, Ricky, the key to the universe and the keys to my car; Eric, the keys to my house; Larry the Les Paul, Dave, the bill for the test drive; Rena and Cynthia (The Punk Wockas), the Alhambra bottle; Chuck, a pair of gloves; Lindsey, a vacuum for his car; Tracey R., the chain.

Have faith. Hold your head up high and be proud. When you think your grip on reality is slipping, fight it! Remember that one can learn quickly in times when things seem the worse. And most of all, never give up.

I, Sharon Estrella, leave Mr. Schmitt the next set of Three Stooges. I leave Mr. Parks my great test scores. I leave Mr. Mattingly 100 papers to correct.

Never give up. It°s worth the wait. May all your wishes and dreams come true like the class of °87°s

I, Rocki Archuleta, leave to Michelle Mayfield all the happiness in the world with Julian, and to Mrs. Bridges I leave a student like me to bug you. I leave my thanks to Bobby Solorio for encouraging me to come to El Rancho. Bob, it°s the best advice you ever gave me.

My advice to the future graduates is to do all your work. Stay in school, and get a diploma. This will be the last year of your life to kick back and relax. So take advantage of it.

I, Michelle Mayfield, leave Brandi all of my Government work because you°re going to need it! Mrs. Bridges, a pack of cigarettes to remember me by. Mr. Lindsey all the thanks in the world for helping me make it. And to my boyfriend, Julian, all my love.

The advice I leave for the future graduates is to do all your government if you plan on graduating. Also, enjoy your senior year because it°s the last one you°re going to spend with your friends.

I, Michelle Sisneroz, leave to Kip Davis 100 bags of Oreos and all my love. I also leave Mrs. Reed any bags of bar-b-que potatoe chips. I leave all my thanks to Mrs. Mattingly for helping me through my senior year. To all the juniors, I leave my knowledge and wisdom.

I, Don Hazelwood, leave to the students graduating a congratulations.

Advice: Try hard and graduate when you°re supposed to.

I, Tina Marie McClain, leave to Ms. Bridges all the horoscope books in the world. Mr. Parks, all the chinese food in California. Paul Laniohan the strength to make it in life.

Advice: To all of the underclassmen, get up, be on time and graduate. May all your dreams and goals be fullfilled.

I, Alex Turan, leave Steve Jones the memory of the first break on a certain Monday, and the hard seat of the cop car.

My advice to underclassmen is to get their "beep" together so you can graduate and enter the real world.

I, Brian Czechowski, leave to Ms. Collins, all of my multimillion dollar drawings. To the school I leave my most prized possession, my black leather jacket. I leave my jacket under two conditions: First, to clean it once a week, and to display it in a showcase with bullet proof glass and an alarm system to protect it from theft.

(CAN I SPEAK TO YOU BEFORE YOU GO TO)
HOLLYWOOD
By: Nona Hendryx

Have you got a minute, my friend?
I thought I'd drop in and say a word or two to you.
It won't take long, pretty soon you'll be gone
On your way.
Yes, I know you're gonna do what you want to anyway
And I don't know if I should, but if I could,
Can I speak to you before you go to Hollywood?

Don't be offended, my friend,
I didn't intend to bring you down from the world
That you're living in
I could be wrong, soon you'll be gone on your way
And tomorrow it could be you instead of me who Has to say
I don't know if I should, but if I could,
Can I speak to you before you go to Hollywood?

I only want to say, learn the rules if you're gonna play
Because the game of life has a new winner every day.
And I don't know if I should, but if I could,
Can I speak to you before you go to Hollywood?

Because I believe in you,
And I hope all your dreams come true,
Have you got a minute, my friend?
To consider the end of the fruitless seeds you sow
With no regrets?
It won't take long, so soon you'll be on your way.
Just open your eyes and see life for what it is
And see yourself as you should - have you understood?
Can I speak to you before you go to Hollywood?

Because I believe in you
I hope you do all the things you set out to do
I believe in you
I hope all your dreams come true.

class Reflections

A YEAR OF REFLECTION

Oh yes, there will be plenty of reflecting
When we think back to this past year of life.

A year with some successes
And some near misses.
Some big surprises
And some close calls.

A year of sharing, caring,and some daring innovations.

A year we dealt with a smoke-free campus
And got through the anger, the panic, and the anxiety-together.

A year when speech became forensics;
Getting a diploma got tougher,
And "Marching On" went "Hollywood".

A year we got "Impacted"
and distracted.
Some over reacted
and then retracted.

A year we proved no ordinary school has a spirit week,
a spirit for pizzas, and a spirit built on an equation.
(R+R=S)

A year filled with ups and downs,
Hellos and good-byes.
A year that taught so many to care
For an art teacher you couldn°t help but love.

Oh yes, it was her spirit
And zest for life
That finished this year°s book.

A Day's Reflection

by

Eric Laudeman

I don't like being awake;
Awake and out of bed.
When my feet touch the floor,
Problems fill my head.

I stagger to the kitchen,
To talk to Captain Crunch.
But all I find is an empty box,
'Cause my brother took him to lunch.

I sit in front of the T.V. set,
To watch the morning news.
Murder, war, hijacks,
Nothing's all that new.

I take my time
Getting ready for school
Because I hate following
Guidelines and rules.

I missed the school bus,
Now I'll have to pay.
Another public transportation day.

I get on the bus,
And pay the student fare.
Everyone is staring at me,
And the clothes I choose to wear.

I make my way
To the back of the ride,
So I can sit,
And think, and hide.

Me, alone, I really wonder why.
All alone I wonder why I try.
This day itself depresses me,
And everything else, is sad to be.

A day at school
Seems so very long.
Sitting at my desk,
Where enjoyment is wrong.

Conform to the rules.
Don't do as you please.
I'm suprised I don't need
Permission to sneeze.

Why am I
In such a bad mood?
Probably from two pounds of chemicals
In one pound of cafeteria food.

Other students laugh at me.
They think I'm cad.
To be accepted,
Is to wear the latest fad.

All my peers are clones,
But this they do not see.
They act and dress the same,
Because it's "cool" to be trendy.

The last bell rings,
I can't wait to go home.
Grab some real food,
And unplug the phone.

I walk up the drive way,
Stop to check the mail,
It's a letter from my conscience,
Asking me to hurry and get well.

I get in my room,
And my mind is at ease.
Visions of the day
Turn to falling leaves.

If I look at life
From a brighter disposition,
I probably won't get
Into dreary situations.

I remember Heneley's poem
Before it is too late.
"I am the captain of my soul,
The master of my fate."

I know that tomorrow
Can be a better day.
I fall asleep grateful,
I'm not set in my mean ways.
